

The new 30,000 square foot Kingwood Library is on target to be completed this year, keeping the area's residents anxious in anticipation. With the holiday season just around the corner, the community is ready for the project to be complete. It may not be quite ready by Christmas, but may be a Valentine's gift this spring.

Don't let the projected finish date stop you from thinking of the gift giving season coming up. Friends of the Library Kingwood (FOLK) are currently selling books in the library foyer, priced from 50 cents to $3, there is a selection for everyone on your list.

Residents can support FOLK in the holiday spirit by purchasing bookplate recognitions to honor a loved one, or by purchasing engraved pavers which will be displayed main walking areas of the library. Residents can also contribute by donating books, magazines, and media to the library, which are gladly accepted all year.

For more information regarding contributions or donations, contact Connie Jaeger at 281-360-5261 or Carolyn Humphrey at 281-360-5844.

If you're interested in volunteering in the bookstore or becoming a 'friend' of the library you can visit www.kingwoodfold.org. Friend memberships start at $20 for the year and provide a 10% discount on all FOLK Bookstore purchases.
